Gulfview property dispute unsettled

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A hot dispute over a small, important piece of land was left dangling Monday when the Hancock County Board of Supervisors postponed action in the face of angry property owners.

The board did act, however, to open the door to a second ambulance service within the county, and settled on a $4.4 million sewer treatment plant financing plan.

GULFVIEW PROPERTY

In the property dispute, supervisors agreed to make an on-site inspection of Walker Avenue, an unconstructed strip of property off South Beach Boulevard in Gulfview subdivision.

Property owner James Maness said his contract sale of land to Galaxy Casino is being held up, pending county abandonment of the watery portion of Walker which cuts through it.

When Maness saw that the board was about to delay action or deny the request outright, he objected that the entire $70 million Galaxy development proposed in the area hangs in the balance.

Maness said his property sale can't go through until the county acts, giving him unquestionably legal title to the tract bordering on the county avenue.

The subdivision's streets were dedicated to the county in 1890, he said, but Maness claims his title shows he owns it outright and he's been paying taxes on the undeveloped roadway.

But other Gulfview property owners appeared at a public hearing Monday to object to the county abandoning Walker Avenue.

"All they're doing is speculating to build a casino," said property owner Russell J. Elliott. Last week, Elliott objected to a similar road abandonment in the subdivision, saying both actions would leave his family's property landlocked.

The two men huddled around maps laid out on the supervisors' meeting room counter, and argued their cases.

"I have a sales contract. All these people have asked us for is to see about clear title to property I've been paying taxes on," said Maness.

Both Maness and Elliott indicated a court battle may ensue, no matter which way the supervisors vote. District 1 Supervisor Robert Peterson said the issue should be decided in court.

But board attorney Gerald Gex said the only question the county should consider is whether Maness' petition for abandonment meets state law's criteria.

He said the issue before the board has nothing to do with pending contracts of sale, or the proposed Galaxy Casino. "What we have now is a road issue ... That's the whole thing at issue now," Gex advised.

Still, the board agreed to have Gex, and some of its members meet with the property owners at the Walker Avenue site Jan. 17, to inspect the land.

A little bad weather didn't rain on the parade at the opening of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino Friday night. Pass mayor shows at meeting

BY AMY PICKICH

Pass Christian Mayor Theodore J. Lawyer told the Pass Christian aldermen Tuesday that contrary to rumors, he will not resign as mayor, but will return to work as soon as he is able.

"I am not going to resign. I am going to keep my job," said Lawyer. "I am going to return back to work and finish up my elected term and my elected responsibilities as mayor. I intend fully to carry out the program that the people re-elected me for, a program that they had five years of experience to vote on."

Last month the board voted to reduce the mayor's salary to $1 a month, as he has been on paid medical leave since mid-July.

Lawyer said he would return to work at the earliest possible time and that he will be available to give depositions for annexation proceedings.

"I ask that I be remembered and held up for what I have done for the good of the city and not for the mistakes I have made. I am human and we're going to make a few mistakes and for those I apologize."

Lawyer thanked and commended the board for the job they were doing and gave them an update on his health.

He said his "pain and suffering" goes back to having an open palette as a child and a fall in 1986 which caused much of his neck and back pain. He also talked of his problems with diabetes.

At the present time he said he is taking numerous antibiotics.

Hancock school board elects officers

BY AMY PICKICH

The Hancock County School Board elected Cheryl Bennett president and Carol Bustetter secretary at their first meeting of 1994 Tuesday.

Steve Benvenutti was reappointed board attorney for a 12-month period.

Advertisement for bids on re-roofing and renovation work at the three county elementary schools was approved. Bids for the approximately $380,000 project are scheduled to be opened at 4:30 p.m. Jan. 21.

The board also adopted a state law concerning use of EEF monies for capital improvements such as the renovation project.

However, partial payment of $13,800 to John Mykolyk and Associates for architectural service on the project was tabled until the district receives EEF money for the project. Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois said the project has been state approved. She added that EEF money for the project must be spent by June.

Bourgeois also informed the board of grant monies available for special education technology, and said she would coordinate efforts with special education director Sherry Ponder.

ALTERNATIVE EDUCATION

After much discussion, the board requested Bourgeois prepare a written policy to ensure that alternatives exist for all students who are expelled or suspended by the district.

Board member Lynette Necaie said she is concerned with the district's liability to students who have been expelled or suspended and are not enrolled in the alternative school.

Bourgeois said the alternative education program can only house 30 students, unless funding is increased. She said parents of those expelled or suspended are informed of other alternatives, such as after school help with the alternative education administrator.

Board member Kay Sones said cases should be followed up on to ensure that students expelled or suspended are referred to the administrator and that they "don't fall through the cracks."

No action was taken on a payment request of $540 for Moran Hauling for cleaning of the alternative school until fee is justified. The board authorized assistant superintendent Eddie Danzey to negotiate.

The board tabled a payment request of $2,061 to Saucier Brothers until job re-roofing project of the first grade building at Hancock North Central is complete.

Before taking any action on the position of a district case manager, the board requested

Ponder report back to them with a recommendation including a definition of services as well as advantages and disadvantages of retaining the position. The board discussed whether continued funding was equitable.

The district was notified it is in compliance with 100 percent of the process and performance standards as outlined by the state accreditation commission and was assigned an accredited 3 level for the 1993-94 school year.

The board approved the advertisement for a radio system for the the district for use on buses and trips.

Radar locations announced in Bay

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Radar detectors will be set up periodically over the next two weeks on several Bay St. Louis streets.

According to Police Chief Frank McNeil, speed limits are being monitored at the requests of citizens living in those areas. Four locations include school zones, where "no tolerance will be given, particularly when school begins and ends," said McNeil. "We will write them."

Areas to be monitored include:
—Washington Street (speeding, Spanish Trail to Hwy. 90);
—Carroll Avenue (school zone, 200-400 blocks);
—Felicity Street (speeding) and Engman Street (speeding and truck traffic);
—Turner Street (speeding, Spanish Trail to Hwy. 90);
—Blue Meadow Road, Dunbar Avenue and Second Street (school zones);
—Bouslog Street (speeding, Spanish Trail to Hwy. 90);
—Longfellow Drive (speeding, Hwy. 90 to city limits); and —South Beach Boulevard (commercial and school zone) and North Beach Boulevard (speeding).
Other areas may be added by request, said McNeil.

First baby of '94

Hancock Medical Center's first baby of the new year was born at 10:05 p.m. Wednesday, January 5, 1994, to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lizana of Bay St. Louis. Pictured is proud mother Carla and son, Clayton Jesse. Clayton is the grandson of Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana. Obstetrics supervisor Vickie Meindl, R.N. said the mother received a gift basket of items donated by area merchants. Meindl said she was getting nervous they wouldn't have anyone to give the items to, as two babies were born on Dec. 30 and no one was in labor New Year's Day. (Echo staff photo by Amy Pickich)

Correction

In a story printed Thursday, January 6, 1994, about the January 4 meeting of the Bay St. Louis City Council a typographical error changed the meaning of a sentence.

The article should have stated that First Baptist Church pastor Dr. Ed Deuschle represented his 500-resident member congregation when he voiced opposition to a proposed casino in the downtown area of Bay St. Louis.

The Sea Coast Echo regrets the error.

one pain pill and additional medicine for depression. He said a hard palate operation performed in the 1970's is causing him problems now for which he will have surgery. He said he is now seeing five specialists, including a psychiatrist.

He said these problems have caused certain behaviors, "unsound judgements" and have caused him at times to "live in another world."

HARBOR RESTAURANT

Applause from the audience followed a board vote of 3-2 to terminate all negotiations with Gary Sinopoli concerning his plans for a restaurant located in the Pass Christian Harbor.

The action came after mayor pro-tem Michael Antoine, who broke the aldermen's deadlock, said Sinopoli had not produced items asked for in a letter by the board, which specifically asked for a map overlay to scale of the proposed harbor restaurant.

Aldermen Jeff Emerson and Vonnie Bodenschatz voted to cease negotiations, with aldermen Gene Rogers and Margaret Jean Kalif voting against the motion.

Emerson said for two years the board had requested information from Sinopoli, and he still doesn't know what Sinopoli's proposal is. Emerson added that Sinopoli could submit a proposal at another time in proper form.

Parental seminars scheduled

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

"The Magic of Reading" is the theme for the Hancock County School District's January Chapter I parent seminars.

"The seminars will share the joy of books and show ways to involve the home and family in the magic of reading," said Rose Acker, Parents as Partners parental involvement coordinator.

"The mystical adventures in reading will be shared along with ways to encourage our young people to open books and learn," Acker added.

Two seminars will take place at each school and will be followed with refreshments. All 7 p.m. meetings will provide child care service.

The seminars for Charles B. Murphy Elementary are set for Tues., Jan. 11, 7 p.m.; and Wed., Jan. 19, 1 p.m.

Gulfview Elementary, Mon., Jan. 10, 7 p.m.; and Tues., Jan. 18, 2 p.m.

And, Hancock North Central Elementary, Thurs., Jan. 13, 7 p.m.; and Thurs., Jan. 20, 1 p.m.

Parents are urged to attend, as the seminars are being presented by Parents as Partners.

Latter-day Saints missionaries spread word of Christ

Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints missionaries have a constant presence in the community, as they travel to teach the gospel of Jesus Christ. In the church, men at least 19 years old and women, 21 or older, have the opportunity to serve a full-time, two-year mission. The missionaries leave their homes and families and pay their own expenses to serve the Lord.

Bay St. Louis recently welcomed the four missionaries pictured at left.

Worldwide there are over 300 missions or geographical areas which contain over 50,000 missionaries from the church. Hancock County is part of the Mississippi Jackson Mission which extends from northeastern Texas through southern Arkansas, northern Louisiana and Mississippi.

Contact Elders Sims or Blake, or Sisters Hull or Bennett, who are serving in the Waveland and Bay St. Louis mission area, for additional information at 467-7875 or 467-5782.

took action ratifying, in effect, a $4.4 million revenue bond issue by the Southern Regional Wastewater Management District. Last year, the county agreed to share 55 percent of the repayment costs associated with a $3.5 million loan from the State Revolving Fund, beginning in 1996.

Board members recently learned, however, that the project's price tag has grown by $900,000, including a 10 percent reserve fund, and that the county is expected to begin paying for its share of the project in June, 1994.

In an emergency meeting with three supervisors last week, district officials said they were under the gun to get the project going, because state environmental officials were threatening fines of some $25,000 a day for pollution violations.

Money couldn't be borrowed from the state fast enough to avert punitive action, they said, so the district proceeded with a revenue bond issue instead.

Plans call for doubling the size of the district's treatment plant, with construction beginning in March. Under terms of a consent agreement with the Mississippi Commission on Environmental Quality, the project must be completed by April 30, 1996.

Despite explanation of the change of plans Monday, District 2 Supervisor Alton A. Kellar refused to endorse the revisions to the project.

"This is a far cry from what we agreed to... $900,000 more," said Kellar. He said the county shouldn't change the terms of the project it agreed to only six months earlier.

District 4 Supervisor Wilmer Seymour said he was sympathetic to Kellar's views, but he added the county has little choice but to go along with the plan changes.

"It seems to me if the county doesn't go along with this, the county will be stagnated... This county is moving faster than we thought it would," said Seymour.

He said if the treatment plant isn't expanded, future development won't be allowed within the county.

"This county is on a roll and I'm tickled to death to see it on a roll," he said. "...I sure wouldn't want to be part of seeing it stagnated."

Kellar cast the only negative vote on the issue.

NEW AMBULANCE

In other action, two representatives of J & R Ambulance Service said their firm is hoping to expand into Hancock County, offering an alternative to Mobile Medic.

Catherine Williams of J & R Ambulance said the Jackson-based firm, also is expanding into Harrison County, has been met with the contention that only one ambulance service is allowed in each county.

Hancock supervisors and Gex, however, said nothing in the local ordinance prohibits two or more firms from operating in a free enterprise atmosphere.

The board met behind closed, locked doors for about two hours to discuss "personnel" matters. Board president Michael Ladner said afterwards no action was taken during the session. The county's road foremen were called into the meeting individually, as was road superintendent Sam Cuevas.

Ladner said Tuesday the board simply wanted to discuss the upcoming year's workload with the road personnel, and to find ways to make the work go more smoothly.

Cable outages planned

Cable television customers will experience interruptions in service next week, according to Cablevision spokesman Robert Garoutte.

Early Tuesday morning an amplifier will be replaced on the corner of Necaise and Main streets, which will cause the majority of Bay St. Louis to be without service for about an hour.

"All next week, maintenance work will cause certain channels to be off and on," said Garoutte, adding repairs will be done between midnight and early morning.

FOOD LOVERS DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free samples were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed by Dr. William Morris of National Dietary Research, Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in nutritional weight control utilizes biological information over-looked by other diet programs. With a natural enzyme/nutrient supplement and real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce office still has several tree seedlings for those who recycled their Christmas trees last week.

The reason is because the chamber's office was closed most of the week due to the flu. Both Cindy and Heather were out.

I know there must have been some who left their recycled trees and found the chamber's office closed.

The seedlings were donated by Mississippi Power to be given to persons who took the time to recycle their Christmas trees.

There was also a large number of trees dropped off at the civic center for recycling.

The project is over with for this year, and I wish to personally thank each and every one of you who participated.

Every time we save a cubic yard of landfill space, it helps future generations.

We will be using the term Mardi Gras quite frequently in the coming weeks at The Echo.

Mardi Gras Day will be celebrated on Tuesday, February 15 this year.

The Krewe of Hancock, which follows the Krewe of Nereids on Sunday, February 6, is seeking float entrants.

Entrants may be floats, marching or walking groups, dancers, maskers and other types of family entertainment groups.

There is an entry form printed elsewhere in today's Echo, or you can call 467-7635 to request an entry form.

The deadline for entries in the Krewe of Hancock is Sunday, Jan. 23.

Mardi Gras is an extended fun time for our area, as there are many parades over a two- or three-week period. We will be telling you more about them as the time nears.

Those who participate in the Krewe of Hancock and other parades all report having a grand time.

Mardi Gras is also a great spectator activity, and large crowds normally line the parade routes.

This will mark the 28th year for the Krewe of Nereids to roll in the area.

All of the ladies of Nereids have been very busy making preparations for their annual ball and parade.

'Throw me something Mister,' or should I say 'Miss,' will be heard many times in the weeks to come.

It is time to practice that call.

Special built

Hancock County supervisors, from left, Wilmer Seymour and Mike Lader, along with Sam Cuevas, road superintendent, check new waste receptacle at the Washington Street American Legion pier. The receptacle and six others were constructed by the Hancock County Maintenance Department as a 'rainy day project,' Cuevas said. Plans are to build several others, as they are to be placed throughout the county at parks, recreation areas, etc. The containers are easy to service and make a good appearance, Cuevas said. FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

Juvenile crime to receive high priority

Youth crime, classroom violence and money matters were among the big issues as members of the Mississippi House of Representatives gathered at the State Capitol for the start of the 1994 legislative session during the past week.

The 90-day session officially began at noon on Tuesday, Jan. 4, with the traditional opening ceremonies, introduction of hundreds of bills and resolutions, and announcement of several committee meetings. This is the third regular session of the 1992-1996 legislative term, and the second regular session since the special court-ordered legislative elections held in 1992.

The closely linked issues of juvenile crime and school-related violence are expected to receive high priority in the House of Representatives this year. One of the first actions in the House was the naming of a select committee by Speaker Tim Ford to examine juvenile- and school-related crimes and handle a growing number of bills pertaining to gun possession by juveniles, youth court laws and curbing school violence.

Speaker Ford noted that national and state polls indicate crime has replaced education as the No. 1 concern of citizens. He said the increase in crimes involving juveniles has been especially alarming.

Other top issues facing the state's 174 legislators over coming weeks include education, economic development, health care, state highways and repair or replacement of local bridges. Legislation also will be introduced dealing with such emotional issues as tax cuts, reducing the cost of car tags, school prayer, boosting the minimum age for getting a driver's license from 15 to 16, revising state gaming laws and reducing the size of the House and Senate.

The Penitentiary Committee is looking at various proposals to deal with the steadily rising prison population. The Insurance Committee has begun work on a bill to strengthen the state's Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Law in an effort to help reduce the number of uninsured motorists on the highways.

State Superintendent of Education Tom Burnham met with the House Education Committee to discuss the state's educational system and review the State Board of Education's recommendations for the 1994 session, including additional funding for the Tech-Prep initiatives, a pay hike for teachers, and funding for new professional development programs.

State finances, as expected, was among the prevailing topics in the first week of the session with state revenues continuing to run even higher than revised budget estimates. A special fiscal briefing was held for House and Senate members by officials from the Joint Legislative Budget Committee, University Research Center, Tax Commission, State Treasurer's Office, and Department of Finance and Administration.

Based on latest figures, collections for the state's General Fund are now slightly more than $150 million over the budget estimate for the current fiscal year, and $146.6 million or almost 14.7 percent over the same time a year ago. Budget officials said the state already has exceeded the anticipated increase in General Fund collections for the entire fiscal year starting July 1, 1993, with six months still remaining in the year.

The Legislative Budget Committee had revised its yearly revenue estimates in November, projecting the state would wind up the year on June 30, 1994, with an ending $236 million balance in the General Fund. Under state law, one-half of the ending balance, or $118 million, would be carried over in the General Fund to start the 1994-95 fiscal year while the remaining $118 million goes to the Education Enhancement Fund created in 1992 to help boost Mississippi's overall educational system. If the upward trend in revenues continues, however, the ending balance will run substantially greater than the revised estimates.

The state's "rainy day" fund — officially known as the Working Cash-Stabilization Reserve Fund — already has reached its statutory ceiling of $160.3 million or approximately 7.5 percent of annual General Fund appropriations. Fiscal experts told legislators that Mississippi now ranks second in the nation in its stabilization funds, surpassed only by Alaska.

There is general agreement that one of the chief responsibilities of the 1994 session will be deciding what to do with the additional revenues, but opinions differ sharply on the numerous proposals being discussed — everything from providing extra funds for education, prison facilities, bridges and other priority needs to a partial one-time tax rebate.

Governor Kirk Fordice has called for a reduction in the state income tax by raising personal exemptions by $3,500, making a total cut of approximately $70 million. The Governor stressed the tax proposal in his annual State-of-the-State speech to a joint meeting of the House and Senate. He also outlined his proposals for local-option school choice, economic development, and expansion of prison facilities. The Governor commended legislators for their efforts in recent years to combat drug abuse and other crimes. But he said Mississippians will still live in fear of hardened criminals if there is no place to house those who are convicted of murder, rape and other violent crimes.

The Governor's speech drew a mixed reaction. Legislators agreed with some of the Governor's remarks and overall goals, but many voiced reservations about other proposals. At one point, several black House and Senate members walked out of the chamber to show their dissatisfaction with the Governor's comments on term limits for legislators and certain other matters.

More than 800 bills and resolutions covering a wide range of topics were introduced in the House during the first three days of the session, and the

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

Pending matters

The first week of the 1994 Legislative Session is complete, and the Senate is working at a rapid pace to deal with the numerous issues facing our state. More than 400 bills and resolutions have been introduced since the session began on Tuesday, Jan. 4. I have authored bills that require a clearer definition of gaming and regulating cable television under the public service commission.

Lawmakers returned to Jackson to find the state's economy improving and revenue collections above original estimates. The budget surplus has become the focal point of the session's proposed legislation. The Legislative Budget Committee revised its yearly estimates and believes the state will end the year on June 30, 1994 with nearly $250 million in the General Fund.

The Senate took action on nine bills vetoed by the Governor by referring them back to their respective committees for a decision on future action and a possible override. The controversial "hate crimes" legislation was returned to the Senate floor due to a vote by the Judiciary Committee. The bill would allow for stronger penalties for crimes of hate involving racial, religious or ethnic prejudice.

A two-thirds majority of those present and voting was required to override the veto despite the Governor's suggestion. The vetoed bill was debated by several members of the Senate. Twenty-five members voted in favor of the override and 20 members voted to sustain the veto. The hate crimes bill needed 30 votes to be overridden.

The State of the State Address was heard by a joint session of the House and Senate Wednesday at noon. The theme, "Mississippi Can Do Anything Now" set the tone for the Governor's remarks.

Gov. Fordice pointed out that the state is currently ranked No. 1 throughout the nation for its economic recovery and the unemployment rate is the lowest in 14 years. His legislative agenda for 1994 includes: cutting state income taxes, local option public school choice, and more prison space.

Other activities of the Senate during the initial week included new committee assignments, assignment of bills to committees, and a briefing on the state's financial condition.

Some bills already introduced would require the use of headlights when driving in the rain; allow legal gaming throughout the state; increase the minimum age for driving to 16; clarify the voluntary use of prayer at non-compulsory school events; reduce costs for car tags; allow for alternative forms of county government; and collect a fine for violating the seatbelt law.

The first deadline of the session is only a week away. General bills and constitutional amendments must be requested by Jan. 14 and introduced by Jan. 17.

The 1994 session looks to be one of great interest to all Mississippians and full of decisions to allow the state to follow the upward trend it is experiencing at the present time.

During the 1994 session I can be reached at P. O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215 or by calling 359-3770. Your questions and comments are always welcome.

Bay St. Louis must set zoning to control gaming

Dear Editor,

The large turnout of citizens at City Hall opposed to a downtown casino indicates how troubled our residents and business owners are about the possibility of losing the city's quality of life. It's time to end the delay in zoning the city for gaming.

The only suitable location for gaming in Bay St. Louis is the site at Casino Magic. Any other dockside location will have a number continues to grow. The deadline is Monday, Jan. 17, for introduction of general bills and constitutional amendments.

I am interested in your views on any legislative matters. Please feel free to write to me at the House of Representatives, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215-1018, or call me at 359-3326 in Jackson or 467-6515 in Bay St. Louis.

serious and negative impact on the residential and/or business area of the city.

What hurts one part of the city will hurt all. Bay St. Louis must be zoned to contain the gaming area to Casino Magic.

Citizen support and input is needed to ensure that the City Council and the Planning and Zoning Commission will act responsibly to zone the city to preserve its character and quality.

A joint meeting has been set by the City Council and the Planning and Zoning Commission for 5:30, Tuesday, Jan. 11.

All citizens are urged to attend this meeting to support a speedy yet thorough process to develop a comprehensive zoning plan, ordinance, and map for the city. And we hope that concerned citizens will continue to attend any further meetings related to this issue until this

OLA soccer team remains undefeated

BY AMY PICKICH
Our Lady Academy cannot only brag that it has the longest continuous soccer program for girls in the state, but that their record stands at 9-0-1.

Six years in the making, Coach Harry Hull said the team, made up of 21 seventh through twelfth graders, is the only undefeated team in District 8.

He added when the team began, it was the only girls soccer team in the state at that time. Currently, there aren't enough teams for a division or a tournament, but the OLA girls compete with six Coast schools and schools in Louisiana. Hull said Andie Fillingame is the team's top scorer with nine goals and six assists so far.

Other top scorers include Nikki Krost with six goals and three assists, Kathryn Scafide with five goals and four assists and Erin O'Brien with five goals and two assists.

Most recently, OLA defeated Long Beach 4-2 on Jan. 5 at home. All team members participated.

Hull said the team "got off to a very quick start with two goals in the first three minutes of the game. In the second period we scored two more goals, as did Long Beach."

OLA's next matchup is against Bay High Wednesday, Jan. 12 at 6:30 p.m. at St. Stanislaus.

Their remaining games will all be played at home. They will face Pope John Paul Jan. 15 at 11 a.m.; Mercy Cross, Jan. 17 at 6:30 p.m.; Ocean Springs, Jan. 19 at 6:30 p.m. and Biloxi, Jan. 25 at 6:30 p.m.

Post-season games are also scheduled and according to Hull, the possibility of a tournament is still up in the air.

Members of the Our Lady Academy soccer team include Amie Geary, Shalon Bradley, Letty Boelte, Annette Morel, Kathryn Scafide, Melissa McPhail, Erin O'Brien, Andie Fillingame, Lindy Heitzmann, Jonna Ellis, Beth Dillenkoff, Marion Labat, Lauren Tusa, Nikki Krost, Erin Favre, Jenny Thomas, Sara Smolensky, Kristen Selle, Amanda McPhail, Gwyn Krost and Leslie Esher. SSC wins Mayors Cup

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus Rock-aways won the annual Mayor's Cup by defeating the Bay High Tigers at the Brother Peter Memorial Gym on Thursday.

In junior varsity action, he Rocks held a commanding 36-12 halftime lead and defeated the Tigers 73-22.

Fabian Collins led the Tigers with 8 points followed by Jermaine Collins who chipped in 6 points.

Kelton Thompson led the Rocks with 23 points. He was followed by Kyle Wittmann who chipped in 11 points.

VARSITY

In varsity action, the Rocks defeated the Tigers 93-62.

The Rocks jumped out to an early lead with a 27-14 first period lead. However, Bay High came back during the second period to make it a close game at the half with the score being 47-41.

SSC outscored the Tigers in the final period 20-5 to seal the victory.

SSC was led by Vince Moran who canned 25 points. Moran hit 6 three pointers, including four in a row.

He was followed by Brandon Benoit who chipped in 18 points. Hector Hernandez and Terry Lawyer rounded out the double figures by scoring 17 points and 14 points, respectively.

Gearld Watson led the Tigers scoring attack with 19 points. He was followed by Robert Venture who chipped in 11 points.

Coach Necaise commented, "We played a good first half but SSC jumped on us in the third period. They were hitting the three pointers and their depth really helped them out."

The Rocks improved their record to 9-7 with the win.

Coach Ladner stated, "You have to give credit to Bay High because they kept themselves in the ballgame with their aggressive play. The key to the game for us is we got Gearld Watson in foul trouble."

He continued, "We had a big crowd and this is a big win."

For only with full public input can we achieve what our community wants.

Now is the time for the whole city to pull together to get proper zoning in place. No one wants to keep fighting the same tire-some battles over and over when something threatens Bay St. Louis as a town worth living in.

The Bay St. Louis Community Association (a non-profit group), P. O. Box 284, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521, urges everyone to join hundreds of others in support of this cause.

Nereids seeks entries for Krewe of Hancock

Parade entries are now being accepted for individuals and organizations who wish to participate in the Mardi Gras Krewe of Hancock, which will follow the Nereids parade Sunday, Feb. 6.

Call 467-7635 to request an entry form for the parade, or use the form printed elsewhere in this issue of the Echo.

Entries may be floats, marching or walking groups, dancers, maskers or other types of family entertainment groups.

The Krewe of Hancock depends on the participation of individuals and community organizations from throughout the area. The Krewe takes pride in the many groups, businesses, friends and neighbors who join them on parade day.

There are entries each year from as far away as Pensacola. Drill teams, marching groups, dance ensembles and local high school, college and military bands add to the excitement of the celebration.

These individuals and groups compete each year for prizes awarded for outstanding entries.

The parade follows a route from Choctaw Plaza in Waveland, down Hwy. 90 into Bay St. Louis, and then returns to Our Shopping Center in Waveland.

A complete set of parade rules will be sent at time of entry. All entries to participate in the Krewe of Hancock must be received no later than Sunday, Jan. 23.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The monthly sing-a-long, sponsored by the Clement R. Bon-tamps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 for the residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Center, was Thursday, Jan. 6. Lena Mae Oustalet played the piano, while Roslyn Weathers led the singing of 'oldies but 'goodies,' hymns and patriotic songs. Pat Turnipseed and the staff served refreshments.

Coast Jazz Society

Monday, Jan. 17, the Mississippi Coast Jazz Society hosts its Mardi Gras ball and monthly jam session in the Royal d'Iberville Crystal Room. The hotel is at 1980 Beach Blvd. on US-90 in Biloxi. A cash bar, spacious dance floor and ample seating are provided. The doors open at 7 p.m., admission is $3 per person, and the public is invited.

Eight Dixieland bands will provide music. Harmonica player Joe Martin of Mandeville will perform with Zocchi's Moonlighters, and a special surprise has been worked up for this set. Additional information is available from Jazz Society president, Owen McPeck at 388-7723.

The bands scheduled to perform are: 7 p.m., Seniors Too; 7:30, Traditions; 8, Biloxi Jazz; 8:30, Jazz Etc.; 9, Mississippi Sound; 9:30, Reflections; 10, Back Bay Jazz; 10:30, Zocchi's Moonlighters and 11, open jam session.

Hancock Women's Club

The monthly luncheon and meeting of the Hancock Women's Club will be at 11 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 13 at the Galley, Waveland Resort Inn.

Members are reminded to bring non-perishable food items or a cash offering for donation to the needy of Hancock County.

Senior Citizens of Waveland

The Senior Citizen Club of Waveland will salute Mardi Gras at the monthly meeting Monday, Jan. 10.

Come join the celebration, enjoy good food, win one of the many door prizes, and bring a friend.

Hancock County Exchange Club

St. Stanislaus Brother Paul Montero was guest speaker Thursday at the Hancock County Exchange Club's first meeting of the new year at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Montero spoke on the school's role in the community and announced a strategic planning organizational session to receive input on increasing the school's community involvement.

The sessions are set for Sunday Jan. 23 at 1 p.m. or Sunday Feb. 20 at 2 p.m., both at St. Stanislaus.

Greatest Unifying Force

Let this mind be in you,
which was also in Christ Jesus.
Phil. 2:5

Let Christ unify our homes and lives.

Worship together as a family.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPLICATION
FOR COASTAL WETLANDS PERMIT
AND WATER QUALITY CERTIFICATION
Galaxy Casino, Inc. has filed an application with the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks/Bureau of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provision of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Law, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972.

The applicant is requesting permission to mechanically dredge an access channel approximately 1,800 feet long x 120 feet wide x 10.7 feet deep in front of his property located on South Beach Blvd., south of Sand Bayou and North of Lakeshore Road, near the community of Clement Harbor, Hancock County, Mississippi, in order to moor a gaming vessel. In addition to the dredging, the applicant is proposing to construct a pier and a pilesupported boatlift that will extend approximately 600 feet from the seaward shore access to the facility, and mooring dolphins to secure the vessel. The existing seawall shall be breached in order to construct a pile-supported driveway for the vessel. A new seawall railing shall then be constructed. Pile-supported fishing/observation areas shall also be constructed adjacent to the seawall.
Additionally, the applicant is requesting a Use Plan Adjustment from the Bureau of Marine Resources at 2820 Beach Boulevard, Biloxi, Mississippi 39531 and the Department of Environmental Quality/Office of Pollution Control, Post Office Box 10355, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 before 1:00 p.m. on the 24th day of January, 1994. A copy of the proposed application is available for review at the above-referenced Bureau of Marine Resources office.

BUSINESS REVIEW

Advertorial

McFarland has latest in dental technology

Now for the first time ever, patients can actually see what their dentist is talking about with the help of an intriguing product called Intraoral Camera System.

Dr. Mark McFarland, who recently opened an office of general dentistry on Gex Road in Diamondhead, has the high-tech miniature surveillance camera which is the latest innovation in a local dental practice and its dramatically helping consumers better understand their dental problems.

Instead of just listening to a verbal explanation of why you need to fix a cracked tooth, you watch a live video picture of that crack magnified 28 times on a color monitor during your dentist's examination process.

Dr. McFarland recently integrated the camera into his practice, opening a new dimension in doctor-patient communication. Patients say it's a fun and easy way to better understand dental procedures.

Coupled to a unique fiber optic light source, the camera is embedded in a handpiece that looks somewhat like a drill handpiece, but is totally silent and absolutely painless.

Patients can watch their examination on a 13 inch color monitor and even take home a 4 x 6 inch color print of problem teeth to discuss with their families or attach to insurance claims.

"The intraoral camera is one of the great revolutions in dentistry like anesthesia and the high-speed drill," said a spokesperson for New Image. "Communication of dental problems has always been verbal...unchanged since the first tooth was pulled."

"Now dentists have a dramatic visual tool that not only enhances patient education, but also actually helps their diagnosis—the magnification process sometimes shows hairline cracks and other problems that can be very difficult to see with small hand mirrors."

Computer literacy the fun way at Paradigm

Feel like the last person on earth to learn how to operate a computer?

Learn how the fun way, so your computer can begin to work to your advantage.

Paradigm Computer Training Center in Diamondhead offers more than 40 different computer training courses, most with beginning, intermediate and advanced classes.

The classes are small, eight students or less, to ensure ample hands-on experience and an excellent teacher-student ratio.

Paradigm uses the most modern curriculum and teaching methods—showing full color overhead projection of procedures and allowing the student to simulate the procedure at a work station.

Dr. Bill Jenkins, president, founder and computer educator/consultant since 1978, has trained some 1,200 people and performed over 250 computer installations.

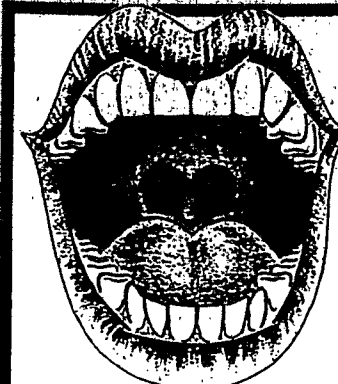

Jenkins, certified by the Mississippi State Department of Education, has taught non-credit computer courses for USM Gulf Park, credit courses for Phillips College in Gulfport, has been an industrial trainer at Mississippi Community Colleges, and is a Lotus/ASBDC authorized instructor for the Small Business Administration.

Let the staff at Paradigm train you and your employees for an increase in employee effectiveness and productivity.

Paradigm Computer Training Center is located at 4349 Gex Road in Diamondhead. Call Dr. Jenkins or office manager Belinda Tebo at 255-9016 or 1-800-888-6772 for more information.
